

Director of the Animal Cancer Center
Department of Clinical Sciences
College of Veterinary Medicine and Biomedical Sciences
Colorado State University

The Department of Clinical Sciences in the College of Veterinary Medicine and Biomedical Sciences invites applications and nominations for the position of Director of the Animal Cancer Center (ACC). Although centered in the Department of Clinical Sciences, members of the ACC faculty are housed in a variety of departments across the college and university. The collective expertise of this multi-disciplinary faculty is a unique resource of the ACC. Activities and responsibilities of the Director include: administration of the programmatic needs of the ACC and providing leadership to the ACC faculty, teaching and advising graduate students, professional veterinary medical students and veterinary residents, conducting research and scholarly activity, and providing service to the oncology program in the James L. Voss Veterinary Teaching Hospital.

Applicants must have a D.V.M., Ph.D., M.D., or equivalent degree; demonstrated excellence in scholarly activity and research related to Oncology; experience in teaching and mentoring students; and must meet requirements for appointment as an associate or full professor. Administrative experience is highly desirable as is experience in development activities. Women and minority candidates are especially encouraged to apply. Interested individuals should send a curriculum vitae, letter of intent, and the names, email and postal addresses of three individuals who can act as references to:

Dr. D. Paul Lunn, Head
Department of Clinical Sciences
1678 Campus Delivery
Colorado State University
Fort Collins CO 80523-1678.

Applicants may also email their CV and letter of intent to mmynard@colostate.edu.

Review of applications will begin August 1, 2009 and continue until a suitable candidate is identified.

Colorado State University is an EEO/AA employer. Colorado State University conducts background checks on all final candidates.
